

INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY FOR THE STUDY OF THE LUMBAR SPINE
CLINICAL TRAVELING FELLOWSHIP sponsored by Globus Medical

This clinical fellowship program is designed to provide for a non ISSLS member spine surgeon or a nonoperative physician, with a strong interest in spine, to spend three months with an ISSLS member to gain clinical and/or surgical skills in the diagnosis and management of spinal disorders. Preference may be given to someone from an underserved or developing country but this is not a requirement. A list of ISSLS members who would be willing to participate in this program will be formed and this program will be promoted to physicians and surgeons in countries where physicians and surgeons do not have an opportunity to participate in specialized spine training. This program will be promoted through the ISSLS website and through various publications.

The fellowship will be for a period of 3 contiguous months. A prospective candidate should contact an ISSLS member they wish to study with and also contact the ISSLS office to make an application.

The physician may spend all 3 months with one clinician/center or divide the 3 months into one month blocks between 2 and 3 different centers.

The recipient is expected to prepare a report following completion of the 3 months to be submitted to the ISSLS Fellowship Committee, and is expected to participate in the following annual meeting..

Travel and accommodations for the 3-month fellowship will be fully underwritten by a grant from Globus Medical, which has made a 5-year commitment to this fellowship program.
